

Biofloria LLC - Terms of Use

Est. January 25th of 2023

All Biofloria LLC customers and affiliates agree to these terms of usage within the time frame that any new, old, or existing customers or affiliates use the services granted by Biofloria LLC and any representative appointed by them. This is a public document for the use of Biofloria LLC and its customers or affiliates for the protection of Biofloria LLC in its financial, physical, electronic, and any other form it may abide in.

All customers and affiliates agree to:

Protecting the identity and personal information of Biofloria LLC or any of its members that may have been acquired during the time of using the services of Biofloria LLC in its financial, physical, electronic, or any other form in which the information was provided. This includes but is not limited to; Legal names, addresses, personal phone numbers, billing information, copyrighted or personal property of Biofloria LLC, private or public images that are the property of Biofloria LLC, and any other vital information or property of the members or entity of Biofloria LLC.

Pay bills when they are due. All users of Biofloria LLC are subject to billing for any service provided by Biofloria LLC. This includes but is not limited to; consultation fees after free consultation, purchasing any product from Biofloria LLC's stores or operations, set-up fees and delivery fees for weddings or events, delivery fees for any occasion other than events or weddings. Biofloria may bill for any unexpected charges or fees that were erected due to the direct carelessness or ill intent of any individual or entity who has thwarted Biofloria LLC's business procedures, personal property, or for the time and suffering of any Biofloria LLC member or affiliate who has sustained substantial personal injury be it physical, mental, or property damage.

Cancel any event within a timely manner before any materials or products have been ordered. If last-minute cancellation occurs; the user of Biofloria LLC's services will be billed for or denied a refund for any product costs (hard goods, fresh flowers, plants, and any other item(s) purchased to carry out the event / wedding) or sourcing fees (any time spent to plan a project and gather materials). This is non-negotiable and any customer or client refusing to pay a bill or bills will be tried in court.

Signature: _____ Maya M. McCarthy _____

Date: 1/25/2023

